Comments: To Whom this Concerns:

I stress my strong opposition to the latest drafts from the Forest Service or any other agenda to cut down Old-Growth Trees/Forests. I also go as far as to oppose any cutting of trees close in size and age to old-growth, under the Federal Government's definition and classification.

As scientists and studies show, we are in an unprecedented time for drastic biodiversity loss, mass extinction, greenhouse gas emissions, rapidly accelerating climate change and it's catastrophic effects. Our best protection against these circumstances is to keep forests intact, and preserve the very small percent of Old-Grown Forests/Trees left in existence. It is extremely short-sighted, ignorant, and foolish to destroy our best solution for a livable planet.
