Comments: While I officially reside in NY, I have been a guide on the Middle Fork of the Salmon River since 2011. I believe the approval of this mine is horribly irresponsible and fueled by greed. The impact to the environment is inevitably negative, and will cause irreparable damage to an already struggling ecosystem. Salmon are an integral part of the ecosystem, and their challenges have already been acknowledged by states and the federal government.

I hope that this project is reevaluated with standards that make more sense for the environment.
