Comments: Since the 1970's and up to this summer [Olympic N. Park, Ozette River wilderness beach, 5 miles in one way], I in my mid 70s have backpacked in and enjoyed camping amongst nature: trees, water, weather, critters. NOT amongst human made "improvements." I strongly object to the rebuilding of this shelter because it is not part of the natural, non-man-made location. There are plenty areas with man made structures for those that want that type of outdoor camping including "camp" trailers...including hot showers, electric for air conditioning and TV. Areas that are set aside as 100% wilderness should not have any human made structures [except for necessities like basic privies and log bridges.] Please preserve every acre of wilderness for future generations wanting to experience true non-human environments. Leave this structure to rot away or, better yet, dismantle and pack it out [human or mule power packing.] Rebuild it and it will be a human crowding point and likely to be taken over by homeless or drug using negative humans. Stop this and all other little "bites" out of our wilderness....like cell towers and powered machines.
