

Data Submitted (UTC 11): 9/9/2024 9:32:12 PM

First name: William

Last name: Beck

Organization:

Title:

Comments: Old growth forests can not and should not be "managed." They must be left alone. Science tells us the only way to maintain the natural biodiversity of an old growth forest is to not disrupt the ecology in any way. Logging, thinning, spraying and road building disrupt and damage natural biodiversity of a forest.

All logging and thinning must be stopped in old growth forests.

Thanks for your consideration of my comments.