Comments: As a hiker, mountain climber and supporter of wilderness, I frequented many mountain top huts for shelter and respite. Most were humble rough built or made of stones placed by hand by crews. Each fit into the landscape compatibly. Structures should be removed if that can be done in a manner consistent with wilderness principles and if the impact from removing the structure is less than the impact from leaving the structure. This hut is not listed on the national register of historic places, though it has been proposed for listing. Even if listed, it could be documented and allowed to fade into the Wilderness. Please using wilderness-compatible means, such as non-motorized/non-mechanized tools, to remove it the ugly eyesore, or allow it to be done by climate change..
