Comments: Old growth forests are a jewel of this state; one we have a responsibility to upkeep. There should not be, in any time or place, logging of these forests. I live in a county that has been affected by such logging in the past, and it does terrible damage to these places, and all money from doing so is siphoned off to major companies that do not in any way benefit California adequately.

I am against this, unequivocally. These forests are precious parts of our state, keep our air cleaner, and belong to the people.
