Comments: I do not believe nature should belong to any entity driven by profit. Old Growth trees host unique ecosystems that cannot be found anywhere else, and would die without them. Does the public not deserve the freedom to observe and enjoy the natural beauty of these environs? We are losing old growth trees every day that will not return. I believe that is shameful. We should cherish and appreciate every one of these beautiful systems. No entity should hold entire say over the fate of countless animal and flora lives. We, and the future, have a right to appreciate the beauty of nature.
