Comments: To allow something like this in this day and age is incomprehensible. To even entertain an insane idea as reopening this polluting mine means that at no matter what the cost to the enviorment , federal agencies are willing to sell everything down the river. What is the point? With everything on this planet tettering on the edge of collapse, the Forest Service gives a green light to this, SHAME on you. Even the Biden Admin. is backing this. Is no one taking into account the damage that will be done forever. Just look at the photos of that dump. You cannot clean up a toxic waste site, either below or above. Wake up you fools and stop this madness.
