

Data Submitted (UTC 11): 9/12/2024 2:28:00 PM

First name: Mary-Elise

Last name: Carlson

Organization:

Title:

Comments: It is reprehensible to continue logging old growth trees, which are one of the most effective systems for mitigating CO2 emissions and are deeply necessary for providing wildlife habitat, in a time where we are just beginning to see the onset of the climate crisis. We cannot afford to lose any more trees, especially old growth forests.