

Data Submitted (UTC 11): 9/12/2024 5:28:59 PM

First name: Derek

Last name: Higley

Organization:

Title:

Comments: Old growth forests are crucial to mitigating climate change, ensuring a safe and consistent home for various species of flora and fauna, maintaining the strength and sturdiness of soil, resilience, and more. This doesn't even begin to talk about the important social and spiritual implications of doing such a thing. There is no benefit to these trees being cut down and harvested.