Comments: Hello,

Please carefully consider all impacts on forest and tree removal in Indiana. It is, in the end, irreparable. I moved to Indianapolis from Northern Michigan and have been delighted with the extensive tree cover within the city limits compared to many cities. I've been horrified to discover the threats trees and forests are under all around Indiana, especially since we learn daily about the importance they offer to all citizens, creatures and our planet. PLEASE show everyone that Indiana will not continue to live up to its reputation of being a "fly-over" state of developments and highways and continue to offer refuge to all within forests and natural areas.

This will be important as people consider quality of life issues in the future.

Thank you.
