Comments: We need to save our old-growth forests! They are unlike usual forest service plantations- they need to be classified for their unique contributions to the health of the planet and be left alone. They offer thriving biodiverse ecosystems, robust carbon sequestration, efficient small water cycles, and overall planet cooling beyond what we can accomplish through technology. We can't afford to continue to be shortsighted. We need to protect what would take hundreds of years to replace as our legacy forests impact us all.
