

Data Submitted (UTC 11): 9/18/2024 4:00:00 AM

First name: Park

Last name: Willis

Organization:

Title:

Comments: Old growth forests have sustained themselves for thousands of years. Managing them through selective logging is unnecessary. Many of them have burned before. That is not a justification. We have so few true old growth forests remaining, please think of your grandchildren and turn your eyes to the selective logging of crowded younger forests.