Comments: Hello,

I just wanted to voice my opinion on diversification of national forest habitat. Old growth forests are great, but I'd much rather see a sustainable working forest across the landscape. This would both create jobs as well as habitat for species that requires diverse forests. Proper forest management is sustainable in large scale. This not only helps ruffed grouse and woodcock that are near to my heart (my bird dogs too) , but an entire suite of animals from warblers to bear to Deer. Please consider an active management plan for the Allegheny National Forest as well as the many national forests across the country.
