

Data Submitted (UTC 11): 9/20/2024 4:00:00 AM

First name: Lisa

Last name: Cretny

Organization:

Title:

Comments: To USFS land management team,

I must ask, how could it possibly benefit the earth and its inhabitants to destroy the few remaining old growth ecosystems...? I can only guess that it would merely benefit the deep pockets of the timber companies who have an interest in exploiting them... am I wrong? These intact (mostly intact?) ecosystems still have so much to teach us about living in harmony with nature, which is so incredibly important at this critical moment in time. Please, please, please protect these few remaining old growth forests!

With great hope and gratitude,

L.C. - Ashland, OR