

Data Submitted (UTC 11): 9/20/2024 4:00:00 AM

First name: Ruth

Last name: Angeletti

Organization:

Title:

Comments: Old growth forests have the greatest biodiversity.

Logging tends to cull the most resilient trees with the best genetic backgrounds.

Old growth trees are more resistant to wildfire, drought and insects.

Cutting mature trees destroys habitat for wildlife.

Old growth trees are important for providing clean water.