Comments: in states like Oregon, some cities have seen as much as 10' (or more) of rain from recent storms over the Summer. Other states like Arizona are dealing with highs exceeding 90°F (or higher) right now, but if you include humidity, that makes it 10x worse. Since the start of this year, we still have no answers as to why Nature got so agitated all of a sudden...

with exception(s) of the Taal volcano in Quezon City erupting some more and most Volcanic activity in Hawaii, including all the damage from last year's wildfires on the island of Maui
