Comments: I support the mineral withdrawal because this will help preserve and restore the land for future generations. Any work that goes into preserving our open spaces and nature is what is needed in the US.

I am from California where we have projects working towards bringing back our redwood forests and working with the indigenous communities to continue being the stewards and protectors of the lands.

I look forward to more of these projects continuing and expanding and for our forestry departments to partner with their local indigenous populations for their knowledge and stewardship. This is native land we are just visitors here.
