Comments: For a service claiming to be "for the land" it's surprising and deeply upsetting to see all the damaged wildlife that has been done due to recent projects. It's been claimed that these project are to promote future growth, but instead the land has been left decimated and growth has not been seen through the rubble of dead trees. It's deeply upsetting to see the once beautiful landscape to be slowly turned over. It feels like I'm losing my home.
