Comments: Hello, my comment is coming from Colorado Springs where a lot of us fight to protect nature. I wholeheartedly support the mineral withdrawal because it will protect clean water. It's a simple reason, but clean water is too often taken for granted. We don't magically have clean water for everyone to drink. It comes from places like these and if we mess with them, we will lose access to clean water. Take a moment to imagine that kind of crisis on a state or country wide level. Then listen to the local communities please because they know what's what and how projects like this will affect them. Join the movement for clean water with us too!
