Comments: I support this withdrawal.

Mining generally has a toxic effect on the area ground water, at very least. We cannot endlessly destroy and pollute our pure water. Else, all of us will suffer...

I am definitely in favor of respecting sacred lands of Indigenous peoples, something that private mining interests in the United States and elsewhere have definitely not respected for far far too long.

Native Americans were here long long before those of us who originated in Europe (and elsewhere) arrived in this great land.

I also feel passionately about preserving wilderness areas. Human beings need wild preserved spaces where they can travel and directly commune with nature.

I was born in Idaho and have lived in many places in this great country.

Thank you for listening and doing the right thing.
