Comments: I support this Withdrawal.

Preserve more than 20,000 acres at the headlands of the Rapid Creek Watershed. Now, Today, Do Require mining companies to withdraw from this pristine and sensitive area.

Mniluzahan (Rapid Creek) is the source of Rapid City's and Ellsworth Air Force Base's water supply. It also supplies water for Indigineous Nations whether persons are on reservations or elsewhere beause rural areas, and irrigation systems along its route to the Cheyenne River and eventually the Missouri River rely on it to be unpolluted.

You know that mining companies will pollute these headwaters , banks, bodies and beds of all waters that flow through the headlands of the Rapid Creek Watershed.

Also these waters, airs and lands are sacred to persons whose origins are within the North American continent throught the recent 30,000 years of its being their home.

And the mining industrialization of thes locales will absolutely wreck tourism and all wild-life biology anchors that draw residents and visitors alike to pass their time in the region.

Require mining companies to withdraw from this pristine and sensitive area.
