Comments: I support this withdrawal. In a time of climate peril, it's preposterous that we as a wealthy nation and leader would consider doing damage to the water table because it's easy to extract resources. The time for investing in solutions that promote the planet's health as well as our own is now, or actually, yesterday. But let's not waste another minute doing irreversible damage to our precious land and water. Let's protect it for ourselves and many generations to come.
