Comments: As a professor, mother, and military spouse married to an Army officer, I strongly support this Withdrawal. It is critical for the future of our clean water supply and the preservation of our pristine lands, which are not only a natural treasure but also sacred to many. These lands offer a space for recreation and renewal, vital for our mental and physical health, particularly for military families like mine, who often find solace in nature after the stresses of service life. I urge the Forest Service to expedite this proposal to the Secretary of the Department of Interior to ensure the swift protection of these invaluable resources.
