Comments: I support this withdrawal for the following reasons:
First, this land is sacred to the Native people, and was recognized as such in a treaty that the US must honor.
Also, destroying sacred land (or any land) for something that is buried there is sacrilegious. This has been the history of mining all over the world.
Third, the protection of the Black Hills should be the precedent we want, not further theft and destruction of traditional Native Lands, or any lands. We need to start protecting the earth, and this is a very significant place to begin.
