Comments: I write to you as a landowner, an organic farmer, and a steward of land biodiversity for future generations. I see first hand every day the changes in birds, mammals, pollinators and wild forages. We know too little how each element contributes to the health of the whole except in its absence on developed and degraded lands. Any wild land holds keys to our future of food and wellbeing.

I urge you to be proactive in stopping the toxic mining in these headlands of the Rapid Creek Watershed. I support withdrawal of all permits. Please expedite the withdrawal request to the Secretary of the Interior.
