Comments: To Whom it May Concern,

I write to you to express my support of withdrawing the more than 20,000 acres of public lands at the headlands of an important watershed from access to extractive industries that threaten to pollute our public resources. As a primary care physician I see every day how access to a clean environment not only benefits the environment itself but benefits us as its human inhabitants. Clean water, clean air, and access to these sacred places is vital to our physical and spiritual surviving and thriving.

Thank you for your consideration,
Aaron Rosenblum, MD
