

Data Submitted (UTC 11): 10/24/2024 3:42:10 PM

First name: S.

Last name: Tyroler

Organization:

Title:

Comments: The whole idea of managing wilderness is a contradiction. Natural burns can be managed as to not allow structures, homes, buildings to be destroyed. However manipulating the burns to suite our limited understanding of maintaining wild lands is not within the scope of caring for the wilderness but rather motivated by profit. It is also difficult to turn this around once the forests have been destroyed. It takes generations for regrowth.