Comments: For years the pendulum swung too far and got stuck for too long by letting Nature do the forest management. Well nature has now provided us with an opportunity to partner with nature in the preservation of forests, duly managed, so they benefit all beings; animals and humans.

Even though I always wanted a house in the hills, the building of residences to close proximity of forestry has got to be managed better. People are not providing safe space around their homes and it's costing all of us millions of dollars per year in addition to the human lives lost. Stop the building access miles before the forest! Let nature have its habitat back, albeit with mindful management of growth, thinning, harvesting and replanting. We know better ways to manage forests across the globe, we can do better putting our knowledge to work. Thank you!
