Comments: The burning of 74000 acres in a timely fashion will not work, from experience the burn window is to short and other factors like the region shutting down all burning .

Although more expensive I would suggest other types of thinning processes , machine as well as hand thinning

The public has spoken numerous time over the years about road closures they prefer not to have any more. Road closures hampers recreation, management of livestock and fire wood gathering . I would prefer an approach of if there is non use then let nature take its course and close the road with vegetation. We have seen in the past areas that were closed never being opened again for forest restoration or other things.
