Comments: The forest will be managed by harvest, or by fire. That is a fact. This type of project is the most important means of productively managing our forest to help prevent the increasingly intense wildfire threats our valley faces. And what better way to help manage that risk than to also utilize the resources to feed our lumber and pulp mills to help build houses and create the paper products we rely on for our homes, offices and bathrooms, and to keep our local residents productively employed. Let's keep allowing projects like this to proceed so that we can make use of the forest resources rather than let them become a liability due to our neglect. No one in this valley wants to see the threat of intense wildfire increase due to neglect. Let's instead make use of the resources in a productive way.
