Comments: Seems to me that the Old Growth acreage is providing maximum benefit to our air quality as is. Please as "it ain't broke why fix it"? Leave them alone and concentrate on getting less beneficial acreages to become more effective in improving air quality. Making "work" that is not necessary to keep forest service employees busy is unnecessary as I am sure with the acreages you are responsible for there already more than enough necessary tasks and projects that require your expertise and professionalism to make our environment a better place for all of flora and fauna to benefit.
