Given that Montlure Camp was fully operational until the Wallow Fire in 2011 when its operational permit was suspended as a result of efforts to contain the fire and subsequent flooding in the area, and whereas the Montlure Council has continued to maintain camp facilities during the last fourteen years, while at the same time engaging with the Forest Service in order to determine what must be done to once again be permitted to re-open the camp, I strongly support the Montlure Council's request for a long-term permit to resume normal camp operations.
