Comments: Thank you for considering some management tools for our wonderful Three Forks of the Flathead river. You have several items in your CRMP that I support.

We love our rivers, but yes over utilization has the potential to destroy the scenic, aesthetic and environmental qualities of the Flathead drainage.

I support requiring metal fire pans or fire blankets for campfires. But would add that requirement only if people have a campfire. Many people travel with small cookstoves and will not have a fire. Small backpack stoves are more environmentally friendly than a wood fire.

Requiring containment for feces. This does not have to be a large ammo can, but small Wag bags or several ziplocks contained in a small plastic container could suffice. The idea is to remove the feces from the river area without the container getting punctured.

The proposed limits on commercial use are too generous-commercial use has exploded in recent years and is impacting the experience of non-commercial users. Commercial use should be capped at or below CURRENT levels.

Thank you
