Comments: Since 1930 Montlure has operated on 13 acres of the Apache-Sitgreaves National Forest located in Greer, Arizona through a special use permit. We appeal to the U.S. Forest Service to reinstate Montlure's special use permit, which was suspended after the 2011 Wallow Fire to allow time for the forest to recover. Montlure's overnight camp serves children and youth entering grades 4 - 12. One of the hallmarks of the Montlure experience is the opportunity to disconnect from the everyday realities of urban life, experiencing the beauty and serenity of nature. Over the years we have encountered campers whose time at Montlure was their first and sometimes only opportunity to experience a national forest. We look forward to the opportunity to bring campers to the Apache-Sitgreaves National Forest. Generations of Montlure alumni are excited for the next generations of campers to experience deep and meaningful fellowship and connections fostered by our historic site, along with the traditions associated with it.
