Comments: I fully support opening these and other trails in future to Emtb. Misconceptions abound about the reality of emtbs and their users. I believe we are viewed in a bad light because people see kids on throttle-only Emotorcycles, that actually can tear up a trail, unlike pedal assist bikes. I don't think people realize the that self-shuttle capabilities are actually good for the environment, reduce road traffic and improve health. Europe allows emtb use all over and prove that trails survive just fine.
