Comments: Montlure has been a wonderful part of my life since I was a teenager. It was a wonderful refuge from the heat of Phoenix, a chance to connect with other high schoolers students and with nature. As an adult with teenagers it was a wonderful place to give them a chance to get out of Tucson, experience nature, and spend time with their peers. As an older adult attending family weekends, even taking my mother in her 80's was a wonderful experience for both of us. Even now in my '70s I go on work camps to help maintain the property, because I believe it is such an important thing, especially for the youth, to be able to get away in a beautiful place to explore themselves, nature, and their spirituality.

Please allow this wonderful camp to continue into its 100th year of existence And beyond.
