Comments: The Northwest Forest plan seems to be a good start, but I would like to emphasize the need to include sustainable environmental and forest practices in making changes to the forest plan. Americans and their insights need to be included. Also there needs to be educational programs presented in communities Schools and colleges and universities so that all of the people who will inherit the future for us have a voice in their care and planning. Thanks so much for receiving comments from the public. I look forward to continued development of forest for recreation primarily, and secondarily for resource use. Thank you.
