Comments: No. Just no. Walking, running, sitting in reflection of the old growth PNW forests is CHURCH for me. I never feel closer to a higher being than when I am in the coastal forests of Oregon, California, & Washington. I find my peace. These sentient beings of wood moss needles fungi birds beetles are grandmothers who have lived long & felt much. My heart BREAKS when thoughts of destruction & invasion is tossed about like there is no meaning or necessity for these beings. Small minded, selfish people who don't know the value of these lands are who wants to rip out the roots of our planets future. I will fight to save these beauties.
