Comments: I support option B for several reasons. I visited and fell in love with the forests of the Pacific Northwest and dream of returning to them soon for recreation. Option B strikes a good balance between preserving old-growth forests and improving fire resilience. Ultimately we need to continue to meet conservation goals alongside climate resilience efforts. I support new protections for previously unprotected old-growth forests and the changes to improve the management of dry, eastside forests. I also support the active inclusion of tribal knowledge in the new plan.
