Comments: Hi,

I feel that none of the current plans do enough to protect our old growth forests, which is a treasure that should be passed from generation to generation, not sold off for lumber to make a quick buck-- And that includes forests that are in recovery who have the future potential to once again become old growth. We need to jealously guard these places from speculators and flim-flam men who are trying to convince everyone that as long as Jesus comes back in the next 3-5 years we'll never need to worry about running out of resources again. They've been saying this for 2,000 years and the only Jesus I know who's come back in all that time is the landscaping guy, and for some reason these so-called Christians do not like him very much at all.

Anyway, RESIST THE TEMPTATION TO SELL OFF OLD GROWTH LIKE CRACKHEADS STRIPPING AN ABANDONED HOUSE FOR THE COPPER PIPES.

Thank you,

Marianne
