

Data Submitted (UTC 11): 3/16/2025 1:37:08 AM

First name: Marilyn

Last name: Affolter

Organization:

Title:

Comments: Trees. They give to us every single day the very air we breathe. Releasing oxygen and then taking in the carbon that we produce. They literally are the lungs of this planet. A mature tree will absorb up to 48 lbs of carbon each year. Take special note that it is the mature trees that do this. We need these older forest to live! I stand by them, live among them and am for them.