Comments: I am an avid user of national forest land in Washington state, Oregon and occasionally in California. Each of these beautiful regions has its own strengths and weaknesses as we navigate the challenges of an evolving climate. We have the knowledge to be stewards of these beautiful forest lands and I believe that option D of the amendments best cares for those lands. For example, fire suppression in northern California forests is very different from the efforts that are needed in the Olympic national Forest in Washington given the difference in tree species, climate and extreme weather events. Thank you for your consideration.
