Comments: Hello,

My name is Amanda Cronin and I currently live in Seattle, but when I first moved to the Pacific Northwest I lived in Eugene, Oregon. I fell in love with the forests around the area and I cannot imagine life without undisturbed old-growth forests. I want to share this beautiful place with all my friends and family and future children. However, I will not be able to do that if these areas are logged.

I care about the Northwest Forest Plan because our old-growth and mature forests are protecting us from the worst impacts of climate change. These trees are incredibly skilled at their jobs of sucking up carbon dioxide. Cutting them down would worsen the climate crisis and kill sensitive animal species that depend on them for habitat. You do not have my permission to log this area.

Thank you for considering my comment. I hope you stay on the right side of history and make the ethical decision.
