Comments: Please adhere to the sustainability focus we've been under prior. I realize there will always be special interests who would eagerly harvest beyond a sustainable model, cash in on protected lands and undermine policies that protect drinking water for local towns, protect fishing and hunting grounds quality, tourism dollars for old growth and other ecosystem qualities that have merit too. There's more to our forests, old growth, and ecosystems than $$ figures, and it's your job to attend to that.

There is a balance to harvesting and sustainability you need to uphold, our entire state depends on good management not a myopic desire to cash in, sell out, the future be damned. Do not extend logging targets in volume or degrading protections already in place.
