Comments: Our National Forests are a national treasure. I spent many of my childhood summers visiting and camping in National Parks and National Forests. I grew up having a profound respect for the environment and the need to protect our forests. My older brother worked for the Forest Service under James Watt, Reagan's anti-environmentalist Secretary of the Interior, who did everything he could to destroy our beautiful forests. My brother quit the Forest Service because he couldn't stomach what Watt was doing. It breaks my heart to see Trump trying to do the same thing.
