Comments: I'm a concerned citizen that wants my representation to listen to what I have to say. We can all agree we don't want more extreme weather events to threaten our livelihoods. The health and safety of both our families depend on stabilizing the amount of certain gases in the atmosphere. Did you know cutting down old growth trees not only makes those trees unavailable to clean our air, but they also release large amounts of gases we don't want into the air?

Protect old growth forests.

If you're going to follow the motto of the Forest Service: Caring for the land and Serving the People, I am the people and I'm asking that you absolutely do everything in your power to protect old growth trees and forests. It's the right thing to do.

Sincerely,

Patricia Lora
