Comments: I have lived in Oregon since 1964. I am an outdoorsman to say the least. Hunter/gatherer, fisherman, hiker, boater, and cyclist. My ceramic art (my profession) has always been inspired by the natural beauty of our amazing state. Oregonians have always been challenged to balance the protection of our natural beauty and to use our valuable natural resources wisely. We have done a pretty good job of this for the most part. Recently I've become concerned with the rhetoric coming from the Trump administration with regard to our NW forests. Statements to the effect of putting huge tariffs on Canada so we can more easily mow down our Forests. It would be a shame to see ignorant short term greed supplant a good thoughtful balanced approach. Our natural resources can be destroyed in the blink of an eye. Replacing them is not possible. Thank you for your consideration.
