Comments: The Forest Service has taken the right steps in doing a site-specific analysis through an EA for the Webster Cliff Trail and by proposing to complete trail work without motorized tools and equipment.

The Forest Service now needs to do a proper analysis, including looking at alternatives.

One alternative to consider is relocating this part of the Webster Cliff Trail within the 1,000-foot wide existing trail corridor in the Wilderness, assuming-as the scoping letter does-that the proposed reroute is outside of the trail corridor. The Forest Service should make every effort to relocate trails in Wilderness within established trail corridors.
