Comments: On behalf of my e biking friends and myself who eventually will go that route I'd like to share my thoughts. E bikes, specifically pedal assisted bikes, are a valuable addition to many lives. From older riders, disabled riders and people with assorted health conditions. They keep people out on the trails, healthy, happy and living life. I'm still on a basic mountain bike but I have yet to have any conflicts or issues on the trails with riders on e bikes. In fact many e bike riders contribute a lot of time, effort and money to trail establishment, organizations and maintenance. Therefore I believe that all trails should be open to all riders including ebikers. Hikers have learned to share the trails with Mt bikers and mt bikers have learned to share the trails with all users. and that's how it should be. More importantly, a few more basic etiquette signs would help everyone get along.
Thank You
